I have lived in the Lewiston/Clarkston valley for 45 years. I started in the health care industry in 1986 working for the largest medical center in the area. I started at entry level office work and worked my way into management. After 16 years, I decided to make a change into home care. I am currently the Agency Director of Addus HealthCare, Inc. (formerly A Full Life Agency) where I have been since 2002. I enjoy the home care field because I feel that I am back to truly helping people and making a difference. I believe that individuals should have the choice of living in their own home. I enjoy helping people build the supports to help remain as independent as they choose.
